SHEILA RAYE CHARLES HEADLINES BENEFIT CONCERT TO COMBAT HUMAN TRAFFICKING

ST. PAUL (December 30) – No More Chains will host Heroes 4 Humans, a benefit concert featuring Sheila Raye Charles, at McNally Smith College of Music on January 14, 2017. The proceeds for the concert will help support organizations dedicated to rescuing the victims of human trafficking. President Obama declared January National Slavery and Human Trafficking Prevention Month.

Sheila Raye Charles, daughter of music legend Ray Charles, has been entertaining audiences since she was 19 years old. Charles cofounded No More Chains with Michael “Tony” Steptoe in 2014. Their mission is to raise awareness of the epidemic of human trafficking. The Heroes 4 Humans concert will be emceed by Coach Tomas, featuring performances by Minneapolis-based LMNOP Band, Savannah Brennan, the Kalisch family and more.

No More Chains is a non-profit organization committed to rescuing victims of human trafficking. No More Chains’ vision is to raise awareness to communities across the nation of the overwhelming epidemic of addiction, incarceration, and human trafficking. Committed to supporting organizations who take part in rescuing victims of human trafficking, No More Chains strives to put an end to global and local slavery.

The doors to the event open at 4:45 p.m. on January 14, 2017. The program starts at 5:30 p.m., with guest speakers. A limited number of tickets for Heroes 4 Humans, starting at $25, are available online at www.chainsrgone.com. For more information about the event, visit www.chainsrgone.com.
